Firdaus

Lagos Chapter

It was an excellent opportunity to learn, engage and network with like-minded members of my primary society. It was absolutely a great one.

Mbakor

Benue Chapter

I participated in the recent sit-out for Amnesty International Nigeria, which was a fantastic opportunity for engagement and advocacy. This event allowed us to unite our voices for human rights and social justice, highlighting crucial issues facing our communities. I connected with like-minded individuals, shared ideas, and strengthened my commitment to protecting fundamental freedoms. It was a meaningful gathering, and I was proud to contribute to the noble cause of Amnesty International.

WHY IT MATTERS?

FIND YOUR NEXT JOURNEY

The Sit-Out is not just another volunteer meet-up, it is the backbone of Amnesty International Nigeria's grassroots strength. In just one cycle, 14 states, 468 participants, and a mix of 311 returning volunteers and 155 new sign-ups came together to sharpen their skills, deepen their understanding of Amnesty's mission, and plan real-world actions that make a difference.

It matters because movements only stay alive when people are connected, informed, and ready to act. The Sit-Out turns online interest into offline commitment, transforms first-time participants into confident activists, and gives experienced volunteers the space to mentor and inspire others.

Every Sit-Out strengthens our human rights network, equips more people to respond to urgent issues, and ensures that Amnesty's voice in Nigeria is not only loud — but impossible to ignore.

Michael, Abuja Chapter

"I will speak up whenever I see human rights been violated in my local environment, I will educate others on their fundamental human rights and I will hold institutions responsible for their actions or inactions, by involving the relevant stakeholders and organisations"

Favour, Crossriver Chapter

"I plan to stay involved by signing petitions, writing letters for urgent cases, attending future events, and raising awareness about human rights issues on social media"

State Highlight

Each state Sit-Out was run using the Implementation Toolkit shared with coordinators, ensuring activities followed a clear structure.

Volunteers began with an introduction to Amnesty International's mission and roles, then discussed mob violence and ways to promote justice without jungle justice.

Sessions covered urgent-action processes, campaign tools, and how volunteers can engage effectively. Participants worked in groups, shared ideas, and ended with a pledge, photos, and social media posts amplifying the #JusticeNotJungle message.
